Concord-San Mandé Sister City Committee

The Concord-Saint-Mandé Sister City Committee has been inactive since 1997. Because of the lack of community interest, Helen Minton and Nina Rose turned its administration over to the Town until a time when Concord citizens may be interested in reestablishing contact with Saint-Mandé.

Mission

The Concord-San Marcos Sister Cities Committee encourages peace and mutual understanding and socioeconomic development in Nicaragua through programs of cultural exchange and economic assistance carried out in a spirit of cooperation by the people of Concord and the city of San Marcos, Nicaragua. Concord Town Meeting established the Sister Cities Committee in 1986. Town Meeting reaffirmed the value of the Committee's work by a second vote in 1987. The Committee works under the auspices of the Concord-Carlisle Human Rights Council. Voluntary membership of Concord citizens and voluntary support by means of financial donations and the contributions of goods and services from citizens in and around Concord sustain the Committee's work.

Projects in 2009

Visits by Concordians in the summer of 2008 precipitated a commitment from the Committee throughout 2009 to raise funds for its most ambitious project in 23 years. The drilling of a 300-meter well, the installation of a pump, and the assembly of distribution pipes have brought potable water for the first time to El Uval, a village of 400 inhabitants far away from the center of the urban core of San Marcos but still within its jurisdiction. Part of the success of the project is attributable to the Community Conservation Challenge, a cooperative venture between the Concord Water/Sewer Division and the Sister Cities Committee that involved 90 Concord families whose commitment to conserving water during the late spring, summer, and early fall contributed $3543.91 to the construction of the well.

During the year in San Marcos itself, the Committee continued its sponsorship of scholarships with stipends of $60 to each of nearly 50 elementary school students at the Escuela San Marcos to encourage the children to stay in school, maintain consistent attendance, and earn honors-level grades.

The Sister Cities Committee continues to operate a micro-bank in San Marcos in cooperation with a small San Marcos-based board of directors. FECONDESAM, founded on March 6, 1996, now has a financial base of over $25,000, and its loans continue to be in the hands of some 40 small business people, mostly women, who have borrowed amounts between $50 and $2000 at 5% rate of interest.

The Committee's ties with Concord-Carlisle Regional High School increased with enthusiastic and much appreciated support coming from Principal Peter Badalament, Spanish Department Chair Cynthia Laflamme, students Kati Miller and Bryan Wholihan and Spanish teacher Beatriz Desloges who traveled to San Marcos for the first time in November to assess future cooperation
